New Acrylic Paintings...

Since January of this year in addition to working in pastel, I have been working with acrylics creating a series of paintings of horses. These new acrylic paintings on cradled boards are inspired by the mustangs at the Ever After Mustang Rescue. Some of the paintings are about equine emotions and attributes; others may portray the myths and fables surrounding the horse, Native American folklore, or symbols found in petroglyphs and prehistoric cave art. This new work continues to be a means to respond on a personal level to animals and share the intimate connection I feel with animals with you, my viewer. I hope you will enjoy following my progress as this series develops! A sampling of them is below... Visit this link:
